Works:

Laṭā'if al Isharat bi Tafsīr al Qur'ān is a famous work of Hazrāt al Qushayrī رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه that is a complete commentary of the Qur'an. He determined that there were four levels of meaning in the Qur'an. First, the Ibara which is the meaning of the text meant for the mass of believers. Second, the ishara, only available to the spiritual elite and lying beyond the obvious verbal meaning. Third, Laṭā'if, subtleties in the text that were meant particularly for saints. And finally, the Haqā'iq, which he said were only comprehensible to the prophets. This text placed him among the elite of the Sufi mystics and is widely used as a standard of Sufi thought.

His fame however, is due mostly to his Al-Risala al-Qushayriyya, or Hazrāt al Qushayrī's رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه Epistle on Sufism. This text is essentially a reminder to the people of his era that Sufis had authentic ancestral tradition, as well as a defense of Sufism against the doubters that rose during that time of his life. Hazrāt al Qushayrī رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه repeatedly acknowledges his debt to, and admiration for, his Sufi master throughout his Risala. Daqqaq was instrumental in introducing Hazrāt al Qushayrī رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه to another outstanding Sufi authority of Khorasan, Hazrāt Abu 'Abd al Rahman al Sulami رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه (Wisaal Sharif 412 AH 1021 CE), who is quoted on almost every page of the Risala. It has sections where Hazrāt al Qushayrī رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه discusses the creed of the Sufis, mentions important and influential Sufis from the past, and establishes fundamentals of Sufi terminology, giving his own interpretation of those Sufi terms. Hazrāt al Qushayrī رحمه الله وَتَعَالَى عليه finally goes through specific practices of Sufism and the techniques of those practices. This text has been used by many Sufi saints in later times as a standard, as is obvious from the many translations into numerous languages.

Works

Swam Al Qalb.

Bahajāt Al Tā'iyfah bi llāh Al Arifā.

The author seems to have attended the instruction and education of the soul, rather than presenting a theoretical discussion. His main audience were his novices whom he addresses most of the time and wishes to sensitize for his philosophy. Al Bidlīsī was a follower of the mystical Sufī path and interlaces Sufi concerns and requests directly or indirectly into his work. Both of his manuscripts have been used for teaching Sufism in Damascus up until the 19th century.
